The President's Popularity.

The extraordinary hold which President Wilson has on the Amercan people, evidenced by the ap plause which greets his name in country, is confirmed by the in-juiry instituted by the New York sun in regard to presidential prosects in the two great parties next ear. What gives additional eight to the opinion of the Sun's orrespondents is the fact that hey are Republicans and active arty leaders in their respective ctions, All the replies are un nimous in asserting that the resident is stronger than his pary. In the light of this tribute to he President's vote-getting powrs, the notion that the Democraic party will look elsewhere than o him for its nominee in 1916 ould be entertained only by persons ignorant of political condi tions. The President's unani nous renomination by his party in 1916, can be prevented only by Mr. Bryan, after having signed two himself.

Ultimately every prosecuting attorney in America is going to be matched and offset by a 'public defender. If eventually, why not now? What is the use of putting off the great day. Every judge and every lawyer throughout out the land knows that the poor man has not got as good a show in our courts as a well-to-do man. Our courts are courts of law. Every layman knows that they should be courts of justice. The easiest and cheapest way to make them what they should be is to create the office of public defender. No one disputes that it is the duty of the governing powers to prosecute offenders against the law. But it is no less a duty to defend the innocent, especially when the latter has not the money to secure competent defense. Every American should and must have as good a chance in our courts as any other. To deny it is to invite the collapse of civilization in America.—Ex.
